

WELCOMING BIODIVERSITY

It is all about the importance of making room for the living, which implies greater immersion with plants and animals while paying attention to what contributes to the health of ecosystems.