

3. Park

1. Solar panel
South oriented, provides solar energy and shade to future events housed. As a signal, offers protection towards the city street. Rain water is collected in the water tank.

2. Water fog diffuser
Provides comfort in warm temperatures without using a lot of water and offers a performative atmosphere. As a closed circuit, rain and used water are collected in a water tank.

3. Scaffolding
Polyvalent and light element. Provides multiple configurations: bar stage, bistros, projections.

Permeable soil

2. Terrace

1. Banner
Materialized textile explaining where the products offered in the gastronomic centre come from: the sea, the mountain, the street, the climate conditions that make these products unique to experience. The textile moves with the wind to highlight and connect the existing in order to offer a narrative on the origin of the products and a meeting place between tourists and locals.

2. Fish net
Reference to the old fish market. Flexible and light element that provides sun and rain protection but with wind and light permeability for a maximum comfort underneath.

Semi-permeable plaza

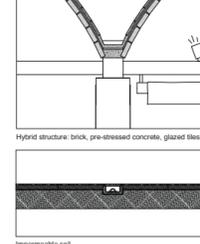

1. Plaza

1. Public fountain
Provides comfort for the users as a gathering and social point. As a closed circuit, rain and used water are collected and filtered in a water tank.

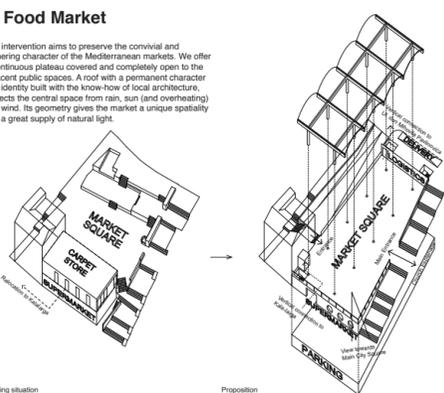

2. Plastic curtain
Flexible and light element that provides rain and wind protection. As a transparent membrane, it maintains the visual connection between the market and the main city square.

3. Kiosk
Flexible and light element. Each kiosk works as an individual unit electrically and independent from the market structure. The floor is raised from the market floor with holes to enable the users to clean. The cleaning water is filtered and collected in a water tank.

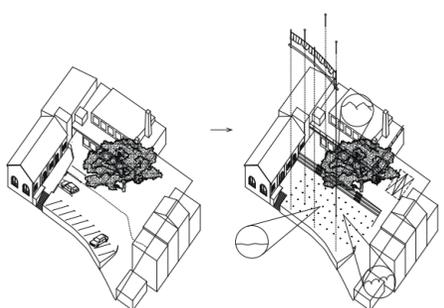

1. Food Market

The intervention aims to preserve the convivial and gathering character of the Mediterranean markets. We offer a continuous plateau covered and completely open to the adjacent public spaces. A roof with a permanent character and identity built with the know-how of local architecture, protects the central space from rain, sun (and overheating) and wind. Its geometry gives the market a unique spatiality and a great supply of natural light.

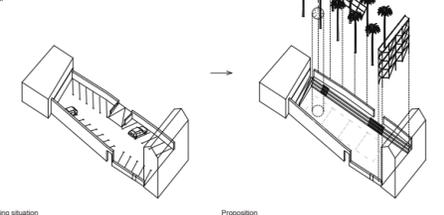

2. Gastronomic Center

The gastronomic center is a space where culture and production meet. The elements already present on the site, the old fish market building and a majestic pine tree, constitute the memory and identity of the place. Our approach aims to highlight and connect the existing in order to offer a narrative on the origin of the products and a meeting place between tourists and locals.

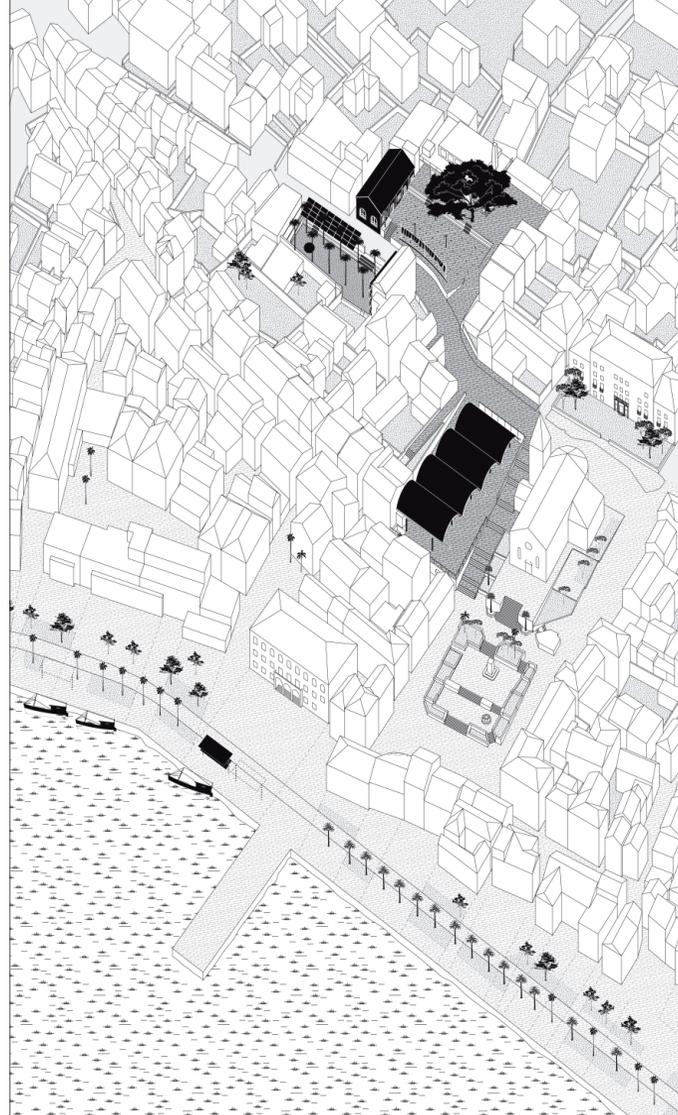

3. Cultural Platform

The project enhances and accentuates the quality of the site's existing topography. Surrounded by two party walls and two stone walls, one of which was built at the end of the 18th century, the existing void presents a rather exceptional topology. This bathtub effect provides protection from wind, sun and vehicles driving nearby (sound and vision). We actively maintain this void by occupying it as a performative park.
