LEGAL PROVISIONS FOR FOREIGN ARCHITECTS

Although anyone is free to set up practice as an architect in the Netherlands, the title of architect has been professionally protected since 1988. This means that anyone wishing to use the title in the Netherlands must be registered with the Stichting Bureau Architectenregister (Architects' registration board) in the Hague. The leader of a team participating for one of the Dutch sites has to be an architect. If he/she has the Dutch nationality or is resident in The Netherlands, he/she has to be registered in the Architects Register (see www.architectenregister.nl) as an architect. The same applies to town planners, landscape architects and interior architects who are members of a team wishing to participate in one of the Dutch sites and who have either the Dutch nationality or are living in the Netherlands.

Construction of 41 apartments, 42 terraced houses and 180 basement parking spaces (European NL serie: 978-90-808734-0-7).

4. Hoogvliet: Patrick Meyers - Ilse Castermans - Peter Knaven. Peter Knaven left the group. The other architects were commissioned for a new plan for the original site, which should be built in 2007, but that project is rejected. The municipality is addressed about its commitment.

5. Lelystad: Regis Verplaetse - Christopher Burton - Eddy Joaquim. The winning project will not be built. The architects made a study for another site, the original town centre, which was received positive by the municipality.

European 7

1. Amsterdam: Giacomo Summa. The ideas on the development of the site changed many times and the architects of the Baukuh collective were not involved in it.

2. The Hague: Jesús Hernández - Helena Casanova. The winning project will not be built. Also the alternative commission was broken off by housing corporation Staedion.

3. Hengelo: Kurt van Belle - Patricia Medina. Commissioned for the competition project on another part of the study site, but realisation of the project waits for a decision about existing buildings on the site.

4. Hengelo: Sechmet Bötger. Commissioned to elaborate the second prize winning scheme for the competition site, but unsure when building will take place.

5. Rotterdam Zuidwijk: Ilse Castermans - Patrick Meyers. Waiting for the site to be free for development, the architects were commissioned for a housing project in the same district, but that project is rejected.

European 8

1. Alkmaar: René Berbee - Marc Holvoet. The municipality made a new programme for the intervention site, after which a European tender was issued in which the winners were mentioned. No further development.

2. Dordrecht: Wouter van Alebeek - Joost van Noort. The winning project will not be built. Waiting for an alternative commission the architects were involved in a study for 'flood proof building'. Later the development of the area was completely rescheduled. No further development.

3. Enschede: Robert Verrijt - Foris Cornelisse. The municipality decided to wait for a plan for the complete station area before deciding what to do with the winning scheme. No further development

4. Haarlem: Rindert Gerritsma. The municipality made an urban programme of requirements for the site, based on the winning project. After that the development of the area was handed over to the market. No further development.

5. Tilburg: Dominique ter Beek - Jenny Eklund - Chris Luth. The municipality made a 'starting note', after which the legal procedures for realising the project can commence. But no further development.

6. Zwolle: Fabrice Henninger - Gabriel Kiderlen - Helga Schmid - Rainer Geerdes. Though the winning project will not be built, the team was to be commissioned for an alternative project, which appeared to be disputable.

European 9

1. Almere: Robert-Jan de Kort, Sander van Schaik, Max Cohen de Lara. The first part of the process of implementing the plan aims at the making of an urban design by the winning architects. This design is based on the competition entry. No further development.

2. Amsterdam: Auguste van Oppen, Marc van Asseldonk. The winners studied the possibilities of the competition design and presented the outcome to the various parties involved. The soil will not be available before 2013 due to soil decontamination. The near future aims at statism, marketing, market advice and researching the possibility to start the urban design.

3. Groningen: Jasper van Zellingen, Nynke-Rixt Jukema. Although the three parties involved in the site in Groningen were not happy with the winning design, they are willing to meet their engagements. The winners already had one and looked forward to two other alternative commissions. But the process stopped due to problems with inhabitants.

European 10

1. Emmen: Marco Galasso, Timur Shabaev. Besides the municipality and the housing corporation now also a building contractor is involved in this site. After a workshop the winners adapted their plan to the realisation of social housing. The 'sutures' from the winning plan will be preserved as much as possible. The winners elaborated three housing types, which are executed and delivered in 2017.

2. Den Haag: Emile Revier, Boris Hocks, Han Dijk. Due to, among others, the economical crises the clients cannot offer the winners much. The clients feel that the problems on the European 10 site are not urgent enough. After some difficult discussions the clients gave the architects a small alternative commission.

3. Maastricht: Esther Stevelink, Arie Bergsma. Due to the fact that one of the parties involved in the development withdrew from the area, the ambitions for the site has been adjusted. The European assignment comprised of apartments within a large project, but new built apartments are not very popular on the market. No further development.

4. Utrecht: Jan Bochmann. In consultation with the winner a team was put together consisting of different disciplines: the housing corporation, the municipality, the winner and his business partner, engineers, technical advisors and financial advisors. The team studied both the assignment and the winning plan. As a consequence, the winner received a small feasibility study. After that the clients did unfortunately not feel the necessity to give another commission.

European 11

1. Almere: Timur Shabaev. No commission came out

2. Amsterdam: Sara Reichwein. Situation unclear

3. Capelle aan den IJssel: Elena Chevtchenko, Ken Thompson, Andrew Kitching. The team got no commission due to the crisis; stakeholders withdrew from the project.

4. Deventer: Erwin Schot, Bas Meijerman, Eloi Koster, Elmar Hammers. Situation unclear

5. Eindhoven: Daniel Zarhy. After having been invited by the university of Eindhoven in the "real" tender, the European team was then more or less kicked out by the architects who were in the lead in the tender which was a frustrating end for them.

6. Leeuwarden: Javier Castellano Pulido, Paloma Baquero Masats, Tomás García Píriz, Luis miguel Ruiz Avilés, Juan Antonio Serrano García. Client withdrew.
